re: Distance Learning

Dear Tourtellotte Memorial High School Families,

We hope this letter finds everyone in good health during this unexpected, extended school closure. As you know, things are changing rapidly, and we are faced with making adjustments in order to do the best that we can in the given situation.

Today we wanted to provide some updated guidance specific to the high school and the work that students are to complete while we learn how to successfully navigate distance learning as requested by the Commissioner of Education.

Teachers at the high school continue to provide meaningful instruction and activities for students. We can now say that the work completed by students is required and will count toward grades in some fashion. Students should be receiving communications from their teachers as to what work is expected to be completed and when it is due. We ask students to be proactive in letting teachers know if there are questions or concerns about assignments and due dates.

As Superintendent Smith continues to provide us with updates, we will communicate any changes in expectations. We greatly appreciate your understanding and patience, as we all face this kind of situation for the first time.

Please do not hesitate to email teachers, counselors, or administrators with any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Ms. Megan E. Parrette
